

Put Christ in Xmas

As a child I learned about You
You were the baby in the hay
We sang our songs of stars with kings and angels
The shepherds came on Christmas day
All this was mixed with "Santa's coming!"
A robe of Red for Christmas White
And somewhere down the line You disappeared
Among the shining tinsel, the trees and lights

I'm sure I was told this was the beginning
Of Your Kingly reign on earth
But Holly, Ivy, Mistletoe and Candles
Was this the purpose of Your birth?
For Jesus You didn't stay a baby.
You grew from a boy to be a man
And in Your time You were the servant King
Whose reign began one night in Bethlehem.

*It's Christmas again
We'll put Christ in Christmas once again
Now I know You've made Your home
Inside my heart You're going to stay
It's Christmas once again*

So much we take now for granted:
The food, the films, the friends, the fun.
We have a festive celebration
All for You, forgotten one.
You're not just another fairy story
Brought out each year to charm us all.
A child no more, You are the King of kings
And we give to You the place rightly Yours

*We'll put you in Christmas again
We'll put Christ in Christmas once again
Now I know You've made Your home
Inside my heart You're going to stay
It's Christmas again
We'll put Christ in Christmas once again
Now I know You've made Your home
Inside my heart You're going to stay
The things you said, Oh I believe
You've really made a change in me
You spoke the Truth, you showed the way
I've really nothing left to say except
Now I know You've made Your home
Inside my heart You're going to stay
It's Christmas*

*Dave Wellington
Copyright © Run Deep Music*